BURY MAN WHO MET TRAGIC DEATH

Heavy Wagon Passed Over Edward Wentz, of Near Harney.

OCCURRED AT EMMITSBURG

Mr. Wentz was Holding Brake Lever When Rubber Broke Throwing Him Under Wheels of Wagon.

The funeral of Edward Wentz, aged 40 years, a prosperous young farmer of near Harney, Maryland, who died last Saturday after a wagon load of cord wood passed over his body, near Emmitsburg, was held this afternoon from his late home.

Mr. Wentz and Mildred Hess who is employed on his farm left home early last Saturday morning to bring a cord and a half of timber from a sawmill near Emmitsburg. After loading the wagon to its capacity, the two started home. Hess was driving the team and Mr. Wentz was riding on a board on the side applying the brakes when necessary.

On a long hill near the Emmitsburg reservoir, Mr. Wentz slipped when the rubber lever broke throwing him under a rear wheel of the wagon. The wheel passed over his back and shoulders and life was crushed out almost instantly. Mr. Hess, who was riding one of the horses at the time was unable to stop the team to help the injured man and the wagon continued on down the grade until the foot of the hill.

After the wagon came to a stop Mr. Hess rushed up the hill and found Mr. Wentz still alive. He died soon afterward before medical assistance could be secured. His back was crushed and several ribs forced out through the skin.

Beside his wife, Mr. Wentz is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wentz, of near Harney, and one daughter, Ethel. Mrs. Harry Angel, a sister, and Harvey and Raymond, brothers also survive.

Services were held at his home and at the Lutheran Church, Harney. Interment was made in the Piney Creek Church Cemetery.

FOCH SAILS FOR HOME

Great General Completes Conquest of America.

Marshal Ferdinand Foch has gone and without seeing the greatest battlefield in the United States. Unfortunately the invitation from Gettysburg to the great general was received too late for the schedule to be altered. Foch completed his conquest of America Tuesday night. He sailed for France today laden with gifts of a grateful nation.

The Marshal reached New York Tuesday afternoon and was acclaimed by tens of thousands. New York seemed jealous of every remaining moment of the hero's visit and not a second was allowed him from the time he reached the Grand Central Station in the afternoon until he retired.

MANY SHIP EARLY

Noticeable Increase in Mail At Local Office.

Indications that residents of Gettysburg are shipping Christmas parcels early are seen at the post office here. Although the rush is not on, a number of packages are going through the office every day.

No extra employees will be used during the rush days. Postmaster Duncan said this morning, but instead members of the regular staff will work extra hours. An additional mail truck for parcel post delivery will be used.

TO HOLD MEETING FOR BUS LINE MEN

Chamber of Commerce Suggests Plan to Reach Understanding.

TELL OF INVESTIGATION

Committee Report is Favorable But Duty Was Not to Recommend Proposition. In Good Standing.

Representatives of the Tidewater Lines, incorporated, and the Gettysburg-Harrisburg Transportation Company will be asked to meet with the directors of the Chamber of Commerce in the near future for the purpose of discussing a plan of co-operation between the two organizations. This action was taken at the special meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce after they had heard the report of the committee sent to Washington to investigate the Tidewater Lines, incorporated.

It is the purpose of the next meeting to bring together representatives of the two lines so that no misunderstandings may exist as to the intentions of the Washington concern or the Chamber of Commerce. According to the present plans the Tidewater Lines will establish between Gettysburg and Baltimore a freight and passenger bus system, if sufficient interest is shown in the project by residents of this vicinity. The Gettysburg-Harrisburg Transportation Company is now operating freight and passenger lines between here and Harrisburg, and between here and Littlestown. It is also understood the local company intends extending their lines to the south.

Committee Reports

E. W. Thomas, reporting for the Chamber of Commerce committee that went to Washington to investigate the Tidewater Lines, explained that the object of the committee was to learn the financial standing of the company and their system of doing business. He emphasized the fact that the committee did not go to Washington for the purpose of recommending it or not recommending it to the directors. Its recommendation and approval, it was explained, would

FIFTEEN CARS DERAILED

Track of P. & R. Damaged Near Carlisle Junction.

A Western Maryland wrecking crew from Gettysburg was called to Red Tank, east of Carlisle Junction, to assist in clearing up a section of track where fifteen cars had been derailed shortly after midnight Tuesday. The derailed cars were on an eastbound Philadelphia and Reading freight. One hundred feet of track was torn up. Fourteen of the cars were loaded with coal.

The cars keeled to one side as they left the track and were laid out along the right of way without causing much damage, although much coal was scattered.

Harrisburg wreckers came out Tuesday morning. There was little delay in passenger service although it was necessary to transfer them around the wreck. Officials said it was impossible to estimate the amount of damage.

Two Ex-Servicemen Sought Aid From J. D. Storm.

J. D. Storm, of the Harrisburg sub-office of the department of Federal Vocational training, who was to have met the ex-servicemen of Adams county who are eligible for this training, in the Red Cross rooms, Tuesday afternoon, was unable to be present.

Two veterans were there. They were Claude Bechtel, of near Hanover, and Otis Hoover, of Heidlersburg. Mr. Storm expects to be in Gettysburg every Tuesday afternoon to interview the men of Adams county.

COUNTY LIBRARY ALMOST CERTAIN

Committee Chosen December 2. Now Approves Plans And Selects County Committee.

PLAN COVERS THE COUNTY

Central Library in Gettysburg, Branch Libraries in Small Towns And Others in Rural Communities.

The committee chosen on December 2, consisting of Professor H. Milton Roth, Miss Alice Longsdorff, Mrs. Elsie S. Lewars and Mrs. Ira Henderson, to consider the advisability and plans for the founding of a central library in Gettysburg with branch libraries in the smaller towns in the county, met Tuesday in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools, H. Milton Roth, with Miss Anna A. MacDonald, of the library extension division of the State Library. Plans were made for starting this project which now looks like a certainty for the county and committees were chosen from Gettysburg and other communities which will meet early in January to begin definite work toward starting a system which it is hoped will embrace the entire county.

The system as outlined by Miss MacDonald and approved by the committee Tuesday consists of a central library in the county seat. Here the work will be conducted by a paid librarian who will properly catalogue the books, see that they are circulated properly among the community libraries, and attend to the rebinding of the volumes.

It is the purpose of the committee to have a reading room at the central point which will be free to all who wish to use it. The latest magazines will be displayed here at all times and books may be taken home after proper credit is secured from the librarian in charge.

The committee at its session chose eleven towns in the county with less population than Gettysburg at which places it hopes to have branch libraries and reading rooms. A person in each town interested in library work would be in charge of the reading room and library and would supervise taking the books and magazines from the reading rooms. One room in each of the towns selected would be large enough, it was thought, to maintain a branch library.

Those towns in the county which the committee chose for branch library stations are Littlestown, New Oxford, East Berlin, Biglerville, Bendersville, Fairfield, Abbottstown, Ardenstville, York Springs and McSherry.

AUTO IN COLLISION

Car Driven By James P. Gilliland Struck Near Chambersburg.

The automobile of James P. Gilliland, Carlisle street, was damaged Sunday on the Lincoln Highway just east of Chambersburg when it was struck by a Ford touring car, the driver of which is alleged not to have stopped after the collision.

According to the Chambersburg police story, Gilliland said that he had intended to go around another car when it suddenly swerved into a side road. Gilliland said he swung his car to the left of the road but the driver of the Ford evidently became confused and crowded him into a ditch. Before Gilliland could extricate his car the Ford and driver had disappeared.

Kenneth Barbour, of Chambersburg, a student at Gettysburg College, was also in the car at the time but neither were injured.

NAVAL RATIO AT CRUCIAL STAGE

Although Delegates Look For Final Settlement in Short Time.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 14—The naval ratio and Shantung now the two overshadowing issues of the arms conference both were at a crucial stage today but with varying prospects of immediate settlement.

There was every indication that the naval ratio discussion was proceeding favorably and some of the delegates believe a final solution will be reached at the conference of the "Big Three" late today.

The Shantung negotiations on the other hand have developed a situation described in official circles as "very delicate" and the Japanese delegates have referred to Tokio the matter of the Kiau Chow railroad, a point which has developed into issue. It is hinted that the Chinese and Japanese plenipotentiaries may refer their differences directly to a "Big Four" composed of heads of the American, British, Japanese and Chinese delegations.

Japan's desire to retain her new battleship, Mutsu, is the issue about which centers the naval discussion with the Japanese apparently ready to accept the American 5-5-3 plan if permitted to keep the Mutsu and scrap instead an older vessel.

HEAR REPORTS OF STATE DELEGATES

James P. Bodley Addresses Committee Meeting of Temperance Workers Tuesday.

Eight members of the county executive committee of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union met at the Pitzer House, Chambersburg street, with Mrs. Rose Stevenson, Tuesday afternoon, to hear the report of Mrs. Charles Knox and Mrs. A. I. Weidner, delegates to the State conference of the W. C. T. U. held recently in Lancaster.

Each of these women gave interesting accounts of the conference. They declared that the work of the W. C. T. U. is not over because the prohibition amendment has been passed but that the problem of enforcement is now the one which should occupy the time of the members. The State conference, they said, declared that prohibition was not a failure and showed statistics to prove their claim.

James P. Bodley, superintendent of the National Cemetery here, was present at the meeting and gave an interesting talk on his work in fighting for prohibition since boyhood after it almost ruined his father's family. Mr. Bodley gave a generous check to the committee for advancing the cause in the county.

The members present then discussed the possibility of arranging for inter-county institutes of the various W. C. T. U. branches in the neighboring counties. The county already has a county conference and it is the hope of the members to secure greater unity between the counties by these institutes. After some discussion it was decided to arrange for such a conference after the first of the new year.

A committee was also chosen to give more publicity to the work of the temperance societies through the local newspapers.

Mrs. A. I. Weidner, Ardenstville, president of the county executive committee presided at the meeting which was attended by the following members: Mrs. W. S. Adams and Miss Reba Adams, Aspers; Mrs. Charles Knox, Gettysburg, president of the St. Courageous union; Miss Elizabeth McClean, Gettysburg, president of the Mary Schick union; Mrs. George Rex, Mrs. Rose Stevenson and Mrs. B. F. Guise.

Document Says McConnell's Retention Would be Disgrace to Best Citizenship of Commonwealth.

Over 1,300 representatives of the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, the annual session of which opened in the York High School auditorium Tuesday morning, will today act upon a resolution asking for the removal of William C. McConnell, Pennsylvania state prohibition enforcement officer. The resolution demanding the resignation was presented at the afternoon session by T. N. Moore, of Bradford county. It was sent to the committee on resolutions and will be acted on at Thursday's session.

McConnell Resolution

The McConnell resolution as presented follows:

Whereas we are advised by the public press that W. C. McConnell for political reasons was appointed Federal Prohibition Director of Pennsylvania, and whereas we are further advised that in the discharge of his duties he has been so indiscreet and openly in sympathy with booze traffic as to turn Pennsylvania into a bootleggers' paradise, and thereby bringing the whole state into disrepute, therefore be it

Resolved, by the Pennsylvania State Grange, in general session at York, Pennsylvania, December 13, 1921, that we ask Secretary Mellon to remove said William C. McConnell from the office and separate him from the pay roll of the general government, as his retention is a disgrace

ORPHANAGE NOT TO GET SUPPORT

SALVATION ARMY LOSES

Five Classed Non-Sectarian. Decisions Followed Extensive Investigation as to Conduct of Homes.

The Hoffman Orphanage of the Reformed Church, located near Littlestown, will be deprived of $3,000 in appropriations by a ruling made Tuesday by Auditor General Lewis of Pennsylvania. He declared the institution was sectarian and not eligible to support from the State under the July decision of the Supreme Court. Eight other institutions will be cut off from appropriations.

The Auditor General announced his rulings after a conference with Luther S. Kauffman, counsel for the committee making the protests. The latter will determine whether his committee will take any of the decisions into the Courts. In several of the cases there were close questions involved and in his letters to the institutions concerned the Auditor General pointed out the law permits appeals to Court if persons interested desire. In the cases of the five declared non-sectarian he will issue warrants for their payment in a short time unless enjoined.

Much surprise was expressed at the Capitol about the inclusion of the Salvation Army homes at Philadelphia and Bellevue and the Salvation Army settlement home and day nursery at Pittsburgh among the sectarian institutions. Auditor General Lewis refused last night to give his reason for cutting off State funds from these institutions, but declared that the Attorney General's office had passed on cases which included them.

The decisions followed an extensive investigation into the manner of conducting each institution, inquiry into

DELAY IRISH PACT

Dail Eireann Will Not Vote Until Thursday.

(By Associated Press)

Dublin, Dec. 14—The question of ratification or rejection of the Anglo-Irish agreement by the Dail Eireann has been postponed until Thursday. This was decided upon at today's meeting of the Dail called to consider the agreement.

Meanwhile the Dail in secret was this afternoon discussing the dispute between the delegates to the London conference, who were the signers of the agreement and Eamon De Valera, the republican president, and the adherents on this issue as to whether the delegates had power to conclude the agreement in the public session of the Dail today. This point was raised by Mr. De Valera. It developed the acute difference existing between the Republican president on one side and Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, the leaders of the plenipotentiaries on the other. In the argument during the hour's public session, Mr. De Valera asserted the delegates had not obeyed the instructions of the cabinet—a charge which Collins and Griffith resented.

Pittsburgh, Kansas, Dec. 14—While the state military authorities were mobilizing companies of the national guard for entrenchment for Pittsburgh today, the militant women of the Kansas mining field, adherents of Alexander Howat, were engaged in the most ambitious campaign they had so far attempted in their program of stopping by violent activities the operation of coal mines by men who responded to the call of the international union for men to man the mines.

Sheriff Gould was besieged by miners who wanted to work and who sought protection from the hordes of women relatives and friends of striking coal miners, who for two days have overwhelmed workers and peace officers about mine shafts preventing men from going into the mines and beating some miners.

This morning more than 1,000 women marched up to mine No. 49 of the Central Coal and Coke Company. Except for beating one man there was little violence. The string of motor cars bearing women to the mine shaft was more than a mile long.

PROTEST HEAVY LIQUOR DUTY

Wide Range of Subjects Discussed by Senate Finance Committee.

WAS PLEA FOR NEAR-BEER

Oppose Tax on Medicine. Take Up Farm Products And Spirits Schedule. Many Witnesses Heard.

Washington, Dec. 14—Tariff framers on the Senate Finance Committee had a course in mental gymnastics yesterday in following the combination of subjects presented by a dozen or more witnesses. The discussion ranged all the way from canary birds to cows, and from near-beer to champagne with onions, spaghetti, candy, nuts, tomato paste and other items thrown in.

The specific schedules under consideration were those dealing with agricultural products and provisions, and spirits, wines and other beverages. Liquor importers, through Levi Cooke, of this city, protested against the proposed rates of $5 a gallon on brandy and $6 a gallon on champagne, pointing out that these were in addition to internal revenue tax of $2.20 a gallon.

Tax Steep For A Medicine

Calling attention to the fact that under the law liquors could not be imported for beverage purposes, Mr. Cooke said most of it was used for medicinal purposes, adding that the tax was a very steep one to impose upon a medicine. This led to a discussion of the medical use of liquors and Senator Smoot (Republican) of Utah, remarked that he recently had seen some 40 persons taken suddenly ill.

Speaking for the Anheuser-Busch Company, Mr. Cooke asked that present rates on imported hops be retained, declaring these hops had to be used in combination with the American product in the manufacture of near-beer to get the desired flavor, and that any curtailment in their use would necessarily curtail the use of the home-grown product. He added that the imported hops in no wise came into competition with the American hops.

Asks Protection From Egypt

Increased protection for the long staple cotton-growing industry in the Southwest was asked of the committee by Governor Campbell of Arizona and Dwight B. Heard of Phoenix, publisher of the Arizona Republican. They said the growing of his cotton promised a development that would put to use much arid land in Arizona, California and New Mexico, and asked that it be protected from Egyptian competition.

Other industries seeking greater protection included in the cattle growers of Ohio and Texas, tomato paste manufacturers in Indiana, macaroni manufacturers and candy manufacturers generally, who were represented as anticipating keen competition from England, France and Germany, especially on low-priced candies.

Warrant For Assault And Battery Against Hagerstown Man.

A warrant, charging B. Q. Cook, of Hagerstown, with aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill, because of his failure to see to the well being of a pedestrian whom he struck while driving his automobile in York, has been issued. The victim was Colfax Lowe, of Bridgeton, a delegate to the convention of the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, now in session in York.

Lowe was struck Tuesday when he attempted to cross a street. Cook stopped his car and told the injured man he was staying at the Penn Hotel, and that he would see to it that Lowe was properly cared for. He left the hotel about an hour later and has not been seen since.

The injured man suffered a fracture of the right leg below the knee, a sprained left leg, a gash on the forehead, laceration of the cheek and bruises to the body. He was carried to the home of his aunt, Mrs. Mable Collins, where a doctor reduced the fracture and dressed his wounds.

Baltimore, Dec. 14—Blind in both eyes, and both hands blown off by a grenade, a pupil of the United States Veterans' Bureau is still "carrying on." In addition to letters of praise and encouragement from the director of the bureau, Colonel Charles R. Forbes, and Secretary of the Navy Denby, he has received a letter from President Harding. The letter to this veteran, Carl Bronner, of Hamilton, Ohio, who is now in the Evergreen Hospital here, reads:

"I cannot tell you how tremendously I was pleased to read an expression of your undaunted resolution and your cheerful hopefulness. It is a mighty blow to suffer the loss of one's vision and one's hands, and to have such a gratifying evidence of your ability to express yourself through your typewriter has brought to me a real spirit of helpfulness when there are problems to face which seem exceedingly difficult.

"I should rejoice to know that any service man who had been so terribly injured was making progress toward real accomplishment in spite of excessive disability; but it is so exceedingly good to know that one so excessively injured as you have found a way to a state of self-help and self-expression, as you make it manifest in your letter to your old commander. If my good wishes addressed to you personally are of any encouragement, please know that they have them in all the sincerity which I can command.

"Very truly yours,

Bronner goes about constantly without a guide, dances, writes on both the Braille writer and typewriter, has finished his preliminary education and is planning to take up the study of law next year.

Opening Of The Grange

The formal opening of the convention in the morning was under the fourth degree of the order, with Master McSparren presiding. Fully 1,350 grangers were in their seats. For the first time in the history the grange was represented by delegates from every county in the commonwealth. Fulton and Mifflin counties have been added to the roster since last year's convention. Seth L. Kinsey, who was to have delivered the address of welcome for the mayor, was present, but the address was not delivered, as the mayor promised to be present at the afternoon session.

Master Address

Agriculture in the United States now stands "at the parting of the ways" John A. McSparren, master of the Grange, declared in his opening address.

Pointing to changed conditions which today prevent the farmer from "pulling up stakes" and moving to a new section if he does not like conditions where he is living, he asserted "the very pioneers are facing a readjustment of values that bids fair to wipe out the equities their hard work and rigorous life have earned in their properties."

"The whole nation has just seen that agriculture cannot be imposed upon and other business escape the injury," he said.

COUNSEL ACCUSES NURSE OF MURDER

Attorney For Eastlake Says Miss Knox Killed Prisoner's Wife.

JEALOUSY AS MOTIVE

Dramatic Charge Against Woman Comes at Beginning of Trial. Indictment Withstands Attack.

Montross, Va., Dec. 14—Upon Miss Sarah E. Knox, Baltimore nurse, will be thrust the charge of murder in an attempt to gain the freedom of Roger D. Eastlake, who went on trial here yesterday for the killing of his wife, Margaret Eastlake.

To do this the lives of two women will be bared to the gaze of all the world. These women are Mrs. Eastlake, who was "brutally hacked to death in her little bungalow at Colonial Beach on the night of September 30, and Miss Knox, who has been openly accused of slaying her single-handed.

The accusation came during the afternoon session of Eastlake's trial. The accusation was made by William W. Butzner, Eastlake's counsel, during his opening address to the jury.

"There was no motive for this man to murder his wife," Butzner declared dramatically. "Love and affection was their lot. But we expect before this trial is over to point our finger at the woman who, aroused by jealousy, brutally killed this man Eastlake's wife and deprived two little children of their loving mother.

Names Miss Knox as Slayer

"That woman was Miss Sarah E. Knox, the Baltimore nurse. Before we are finished we will bring before you to contemplate all the horrible details that led up to this atrocious crime. During the progress of this trial the voice of the dead woman will cry out to you in vindication of her husband. We ask that you harken to this cry, and restore as far as possible all that is left of this little family of the prisoner Eastlake."

Commonwealth Attorney Watt Mayo, who preceded Butzner, stated that the prosecution was prepared to show that Eastlake knew of the presence of Miss Knox at Colonial Beach several days before the murder and that clothing which he wore on September 30 was stained with blood.

Harry M. Smith, Jr., and Frederick W. Coleman, attorneys for Miss Knox, who will be tried in January, were present at the trial and took many notes as the session proceeded. Miss Knox is confined in the Richmond jail and will not be brought to Montross unless demanded as a witness.

Personnel of Jury

Much difficulty was experienced in the selection of the jury, those called to serve having made every effort to escape the duty. The 12 men finally selected were:

Attack on Indictment Fails

At the opening of the trial Attorney Butzner asked that the indictment against Eastlake be quashed as faulty. He alleged that the name of one of the grand jurymen was misspelled, two were inserted in pencil and that the sheriff had failed to properly indorse the document. The motion was overruled by Judge Joseph Wilson Phin.

SPECIAL HOUSES FOR U. S. OFFICERS

City of Coblenz Was Hard Pressed by Army of Occupation.

Coblenz, Nov. 25 — Apartment houses built by the municipality of Coblenz, aided by the German government, were opened recently for accommodation exclusively of officers of the American Forces in Germany and their families. The purpose of the houses is to relieve the crowded condition of the city which has been a problem ever since the Allied troops reached the Rhine.

There are 82 apartments of five rooms each and all modern conveniences, in the new buildings now being taken over by the American families. Work on these apartments was started about two years ago to alleviate, as the Germans put it, "an unbearable situation," as "no roof is large enough to cover two families." Additional quarters for non-commissioned officers and their families are also under construction.

Allied army officers say that the population of Coblenz perhaps has been harder pressed by the army requisition of quarters than any other occupied city. All available space for officers and billets has been under requisition for nearly three years, but German officials hope the new apartment houses will considerably improve the present crowded condition of the city.

In Coblenz there are about 3,000 rooms under requisition by the American army, the general policy of billeting being similar in all the zones as occupied by the French, British and Belgians. In the majority of cases, Allied families have been quartered in the same houses or apartments with German families, the Allied families occupying a separate part of the house so far as practicable and using the kitchen and bath in common with the German occupant.

As a consequence, disputes have arisen and the town major or billeting officer is often called upon to settle them. These disagreements almost invariably have their origin due to the joint use of the kitchen. Because of this difficulty, the policy has universally been adopted of installing, wherever possible, a separate kitchen for the Allied family.

Generally, when a house or apartment has been taken over, the Germans have been permitted to take their furniture and personal belongings with them. In the American area it is stated, however, that only in exceptional cases have Germans been required to vacate their homes or apartments entirely. One eight room school building in Coblenz was requisitioned exclusively for children of American officers.

have to be given by the Chamber of Commerce.

Reporting as to the findings of the committee, Mr. Thomas said the business had been in operation for ten years, although the present company had been in charge only a year. He presented a financial statement of the Lines and a number of letters from banks in Washington and Baltimore which indicated a good business reputation for the firm.

Members of the committee were highly pleased with the system and business management and explained to the directors in detail the operating methods employed. It was said the Lines are incorporated at $1,000,000 and that slightly more than $200,000 worth of the stock has been issued. The company has decided to establish a terminal and garage in McSherrystown.

JUDGE SCORES DRY LAW AGENTS

Gillan Says Local Police Not Able to Do it And Don't Want to.

When Steven Machen appeared before Judge Gillan in the Franklin county court and confessed to selling liquor near the State sanatorium at Mont Alto, the jurist took occasion to rap prohibition agents for failure to break up the liquor traffic. Machen when asked where he got the booze to sell he declared he bought it from John Dillman, who left the next day for the old country.

"It would take but little work for strangers from the prohibition enforcement forces to break up this practice," stated his honor. "Our own officers can't do it, they are too well known, and besides some of them don't seem to want to do it." He then stated if Machen would tell all he really knew of the dealings of the liquor ring around here he would be able to deal lightly with him, but since he would not do this he imposed a fine of $100 and costs and 60 days in the county jail.

CALLS PRINCESS CROOK

Catherine, of Russia. Branded Criminal by New York Prosecutor.

New York, Dec. 14—A charge that Princess Catherine Radziwill, of Russia, possessed an unenviable criminal record was made in police Court yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Gibbs, when the Princess was held in $1000 bail on a charge of evading a $1200 bill alleged to be due to the Hotel Embassy.

The prosecutor made his charge after defense counsel had informed the Court his client was a princess of royal blood, closely connected with diplomatic circles.

"She served 18 months in the South Africa house of detention for swindling Cecil Rhodes for a forgery of $200,000," asserted Gibbs. "If the Princess will take the stand, I will prove my assertions."

The defendant denied the charge.

rystown. As these stations are only tentative, others may be added.

In still smaller towns than those just mentioned, the committee would place deposit stations of books and magazines. The plan adopted for these small communities is to have the books and magazines placed in a local store, Sunday school room or home where they may be procured easily and where they would be taken care of. The books and magazines here would circulate most of the time and when all had been read, the central library would exchange the literature with that of another small community or with the central library.

The communities selected for such deposit stations were Cashtown, McKnightstown, Latimore, Wrensville, Heidlersburg, Two Taverns, Zora, Bonneauville, Fountaldale, Orrtanna, Mummasburg, Brysonia, Barlow, Gardners, Guernsey. Others will be added to this list, the committee stated.

Beside the plans just outlined and the towns decided upon for the branch libraries and deposit stations, a tentative committee was chosen of representative men and women from all parts of the county as a general body to further library work not only in their own communities but in the county as a whole.

Those comprising this general committee of which Rev. D. W. Woods is chairman, and the towns and communities which they represent are as follows: Mrs. Elsie S. Lewars, Professor H. Milton Roth, Mrs. D. P. McPherson, S. B. Shenk, Dr. S. N. Hagen, Dr. K. J. Grimm, Mary H. Himes, Mrs. H. C. Alleman, Mrs. George D. Stanley, Donald F. Ikeler, Father Mark Stock, Mrs. Paul R. SOCIETY BIRDS BOXING

It Improves Natural Charms, They Say.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 14—Chicago girls are learning another way to make a hit.

They are taking up the manly art of self-defense.

Cyrena Van Gordon, one of the stars of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, recently "took up" boxing here, and now every one is doing it. "I recommend boxing for all girls," said the singer Tuesday. "It not only enables them to defend themselves, but it adds to the physical grace and the mental alertness. Brains count more than strength in clever boxing."

Acting on the same theory, girls in all walks are acquiring the art. Society buds, dramatic students and university coeds are improving their charms by use of the padded gloves.

Mrs. Edward A. Leight has given to her boudoir the atmosphere of a training camp. A group of debutantes this week met in her home with W. K. Smith, who taught Theodore Roosevelt to box.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College.

Water For Poultry—A water fountain that is heated, or one with double walled insulation should be used in the poultry houses during the winter months. A constant supply of water is essential for the best egg production. A pail packed in a box with straw makes a good water fountain.

Vegetables—Some of the parsnips, salsify and horse radish roots ought to be lifted before freezing weather makes it difficult. They will keep perfectly in any cool cellar, cave, pit or shed. Cover the roots with moist earth to prevent shriveling. Idle Horses—Horses that are forced to remain idle may be fed a little more roughage than usual with a saving to the feed bill.

Good Seed—The excellent results secured during the past season with disease-free potato seed are sufficient arguments for securing some good seed for next year's planting if you have never tried it. Farmers all over the state are doubling their orders for next year.

Beef Production—The low prices prevailing for young steers tempt many farmers to try winter feeding. One is "never too old to learn" and the seven lesson course in Beef Production offered free for study at home by the Pennsylvania State College agricultural school, will give one many valuable pointers.

FIND BODY OF MISSING MAN

Father of Four Drowned in Dam. Brother-in-law Makes Discovery.

Dauphin, Pa., Dec. 14—The body of Charles Hummel, aged 28, who had been missing from his home at Stone Glen, since Sunday afternoon, was found in Walkemeyer's dam, shortly after noon, Tuesday.

Hummel, who is the father of four children, was last seen late Sunday afternoon.

When Mrs. Hummel reported that her husband had not returned home, Stony Creek people were convinced he had fallen into one of the dams. Tuesday morning all Stony Creek Valley, from Dauphin to Ellendale, turned out in search of the missing man and a number of men commenced dragging both Walkemeyer's and also the Ellendale ice dam. The body was recovered after several hours' search.

Mrs. C. H. McElwee, a sister-in-law of the man, says Mrs. Hummel and her four children are grief-stricken. Fearing that her husband had met with foul play, Mrs. Hummel had notified both the Harrisburg police department and also the State police that he was missing and efforts had been started by these officers to locate Hummel when word of the recovery of his body was received.

Found By Brother-in-Law—The body was found about noon after the missing man's brother-in-law, Paul McElwee, saw a hand protruding from the water. With the aid of grappling irons the body was then brought from the water.

Oldest Child Aged Eight—Mr. Hummel is survived by his wife and four children, the oldest eight years of age. The children are as follows: Ruth, aged eight; Charles, aged five; Barbara, aged three, and Lydia, aged one year.

CONTINUE CONFERENCE

Chicago, Dec. 14—Wage conferences between railroad officials and representatives of the shop crafts unions were fairly under way yesterday, according to reports to union headquarters here. The conferences, in some cases, are considering both the 13 cent increase asked by the shop employees, and the 10 per cent decrease sought by the roads.

At the same time, bathtubs were pouring into the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor on the question of authorizing a strike fund. While maintaining that this vote has no special significance, they said that it forecast a contingency which might arise soon.

"The vote is taken under the laws of the organization which require voting the authority of a strike fund to be used on any road in case of a strike," B. M. Jewell, president of the shop crafts unions, said.

The Boss—"I'm just going to help you beat a part of this unjust and burdensome income tax." The Salesman—"Thanks, chief. How do we do it?" The Boss—"We reduce your salary 25 per cent."—Houston Post.

AFTER CENTURIES OF CONFLICT

VICTIM OF HER LOVE IS KATE

Too Much Moonshine Causes Death of Notorious Harrisburg Character.

CAR MAY HAVE HIT HER

Woman Said to Have Come From Well-to-do People Was Known in Slums of Capital City and Steelton.

Harrisburg, Dec. 14—The last chapter in the varied history of "Pittsburgh Kate," former resident of the old Eighth ward, and known to the police of Harrisburg and Steelton under a dozen different aliases, has been written. "Pittsburgh Kate" is lying in the morgue of the Harrisburg Hospital, victim of her old-time love, moonshine liquor.

Kate Sowers, or Sawyer, of Murray as she was known to the police of Harrisburg and to the family in which she acted as caretaker, was picked up early this morning in Front street, Steelton, where she was lying in the middle of the car tracks, Joseph T. Lewis, 273 South Second street, Steelton, and Orville D. Denny, 10 North Fifth street, Harrisburg, were enroute to this city about 1 o'clock this morning in a Penn-Harris taxi driven by Lewis when they saw a shape in the street and tried to avoid it. When they came back, they found "Pittsburgh Kate" and, loading her into the taxi, drove to the Harrisburg Hospital, where the woman was pronounced dead.

At that time she could not be identified, but early this morning Charles Curry, of 353 Nectarine street, a cook at the hospital, recognized the body. Curry had known her well, he said, as she lived at 340 Nectarine street and worked for D. C. Menges, of that address, Mr. Menges was notified by the police of her death.

May Have Struck Woman—According to the statement of Orville Denny, made to Chief of Police Hiram Longaker, of Steelton, yesterday morning, he was standing at the corner of Front and Lincoln streets, in the borough, at 1 o'clock when Lewis appeared driving north in his taxi. Denny hailed him, and Lewis offered to take him to Harrisburg. They had gone only a few blocks when both Lewis and Denny sighted a dark figure lying on the north-bound car tracks. The two are not agreed as to whether the machine struck the woman, although Denny is of the opinion that it did.

Lewis turned his car around at the next corner, according to his story, and drove back. The woman was lying in the taxi, but when they carried her into the Harrisburg Hospital a few minutes later she was dead.

Police officers from the Harrisburg station looked at the body this morning and concurred in Curry's statement that there could be no doubt of the identity of the woman who had made them so much trouble in her time.

Of Well-to-Do Family—"Pittsburgh Kate" was a character known far and wide. According to Chief of Police Longaker, of Steelton, the woman once told him that her real name was Katherine Stearn, and that she came from well-to-do people living in Milton, Pa. That there can be no doubt as to the truth of this statement was testified this morning by a former resident of Steelton who said that he had seen Kate in Milton during one of the occasional periods when she tried to reform and go back to the life of her childhood.

But she always slipped back to the life among the foreign and colored element in Steelton where she was known as Kate Murray. As Kate Murray she lived in the West Side with a dozen different families, and as Kate Murray she regularly appeared on the police docket as "drunk and disorderly."

DEAD MAN TURNS UP

Appears While Funeral Is Being Arranged.

Alexandria, Pa., Dec. 14—While relatives of John Chilcoat, of Akron, Ohio, were gathered here at the home of his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Chilcoat, awaiting the arrival of the former's body, a telephone message turned the mourning party into one of rejoicing. At the other end of the line John Chilcoat was making an effort to tell his mother that he was very much alive and that the telegram she had received several hours before was a mistake. Efforts to trace the message have failed. The charges of $1.35 on the message had been prepaid.

On the news being sent out, relatives of the family and friends gathered at the home to console the mother in her sudden bereavement. Relatives are busying themselves wiring those who contemplated attending the funeral not to come.

MAY REFORM BANDIT

To Operate On Skull Of Roy Gardner.

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 14—Roy Gardner, whose trial here on a charge of robbing a mail car at Maricopa, Arizona, resulted in a divided jury, pleaded guilty Monday in Federal court to a charge of attempting to rob a mail car here and assaulting Herman F. Indertiel, a mail clerk. Judge William H. Sawtell sentenced Gardner to twenty five years in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas.

It is understood the prison authorities will be requested to have an operation performed on Gardner's skull to remove the pressure which the defense claims caused Gardner to commit his crimes. Gardner now faces a total of seventy five years' imprisonment for sentences imposed upon him for robbing the mails.

STERILIZATION INVALID

Albany, Ore., Dec. 14—Oregon's sterilization laws were held unconstitutional Tuesday in an opinion of Percy R. Kelly and G. G. Bingham, judges of the Third Judicial district. The act of 1917 was held unconstitutional because it designates inmates of state institutions only as subject to it and hence was held class legislation. The 1919 act was held invalid because it provided no court procedure for the disposal of cases.

JIM THORPE QUILTS SPORTS FOR GOOD

Famous Indian Athlete Will Take it Easy. Has Plenty of Money.

New York, Dec. 14.—The professional gridiron is about to see the last of Jim Thorpe, the great Indian who made football history while at Carlisle and later as captain and star back of the Canton Bulldogs and Cleveland Tigers, leading professional teams of the Middle West.

Thorpe announced that he will retire from active competition in the sport that brought him his greatest acclaim, the retirement to take effect at the close of this season.

"I have laid aside a tidy sum and feel that it is about time I retired from active football playing. My decision is not influenced by a desire to avoid the hard knocks of the game, for I love it above all others, and am confident I could continue in the game for five years longer without any appreciable let down in my play. It is simply that I feel that I have played long enough and mean to turn my attention to hunting and fishing and less strenuous sports."

With Thorpe in the backfield were Joe Guyon and Pete Calac, also products of Carlisle football, and they, too, mean to make this game their life in football.

Thorpe's Start

Thorpe first appeared in athletics at the Carlisle Indian School in 1901. At that time he was only a lad of sixteen, and not for several seasons did he come into prominence. But once he did, he was there to stay. Following closely in the footsteps of Frank Mount Pleasant, he took up the burden of Carlisle football, almost single-handed, and for four years prior to 1912, was the unanimous choice for an All-American backfield position. Indeed, his work during those seasons was such that he is now rated with Ned Mahan, of Harvard; Ted Coy, of Yale, and Willie Heston, of Michigan, as the four greatest backs that ever played football.

In 1912 Thorpe accompanied the American Olympic team to Stockholm and simply spread-eagled his fields in winning the pentathlon and decathlon titles in track and field, but later in the year was declared a professional and signed with the New York Giants.

Enters Baseball

For some years he sat on the New York bench under the eye of John McGraw and while the Indian gave great promise as a ball player, his weakness against curve ball pitching ultimately proved his undoing. He, however, passed in and out of the majors several times, playing in the outfield of the Cincinnati Reds and Boston Braves for several seasons. In his final year in the big leagues he hit well up toward .330 for the Braves, but by that time he had gotten along in years and was allowed to pass out from under the big tent.

EMANUEL SIGNS FOR XMAS GAME

Harrisburg All-Star Eleven to Meet Williamsport Stars Christmas.

Victor Emanuel, former fast end and captain of the College eleven here, is rapidly signing up Harrisburg's collegiate football stars for a game with the Williamsport All-Stars on the Island Park gridiron, Christmas day. These boys will soon arrive home for the Christmas holidays and indoor work in a Harrisburg gymnasium will be started at once, according to a report from the Capitol City. All the players will be in the best of shape for the game.

It is expected that one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed an athletic contest here will turn out to see the game. To see such men as Glenn Killinger, the Beck brothers and the Emanuel brothers, and in fact all of Harrisburg's famous players in action again and on one team will indeed be well worth while. Plans are being made to have suitable seating arrangements on the Island.

Since Christmas day falls on Sunday this year, the game will in all probability be played on Monday and should draw a large contingent from Gettysburg who know the work of many of these stars, and have seen them in action.

NOSED OUT AT END

Biglerville Loses Cage Game to York Team.

Biglerville lead until the last few minutes of a fast game with the Thompson School of Business on Tuesday evening at York and then Shellenberger a guard for Thompson broke loose and netted three field goals and the Adams county lads once again came home with the short end of the score. The count was 14 to 10 in favor of Thompson.

The game was a fast one and close guarding on the part of both teams prevented many chances from the field. The entire Biglerville team played a hard clean game, with Minter distinguishing himself. Shellenberger pulled the game out of the fire for Thompson by his sensational playing in the closing minutes of the game. The score:

The decisions yesterday include $107,800 appropriated to institutions which were refused and $168,500 to those ruled non-sectarian. JAPAN TO ACCEPT NAVAL RATIO

Full Agreement on Limitations Expected at Conference This Week.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—Japan's acceptance of the American proposal for a "5-5-3" naval limitation has been communicated to the American and British delegates and it was said that an agreement might be expected late this week.

A meeting of Secretary Hughes, Arthur J. Balfour and Admiral Baron Kato late yesterday on naval questions is understood to have been very successful. Further progress is expected to be made at another meeting soon.

Anxious To Retain Mutsu

In agreeing to accept the proposed naval ratio, it was said in American quarters, Japan coupled with it a renewed request that she be allowed to retain the new battleship Mutsu in place of one of her old-line ships, which would have been retained. The Japanese requests were considered at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the American delegates with Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, of the Navy Department, and Admiral Coontz, chief of naval operations. It was said that the Americans are not prepared at this time to accept Japan's request for retaining the Mutsu.

Japan's request for retention of the Mutsu was said in American circles to have some basis of sound argument. The Japanese delegates, it was said, had represented that there was much national pride in the Mutsu, which now is the largest warship afloat.

There were intimations that Japan, if necessary to retain the Mutsu, might be expected to present a counter-proposal that in calculating the "5-5-3" basis that the United States and Great Britain should be allowed

CLOGGED BLOOD WITHERS THE BODY

Workers Sick and Weak from Exertion Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Men and women who toil, either physically or mentally, use up energy. When they overwork they use up more energy, and sometimes the blood gets in a run-down condition. Without rest the blood cannot get back to normal, so that it becomes clogged with waste matter from over-exertion.

The clogged blood virtually withers the body. The strained looks on pale faces, the thin, bloodless arms, the sunken cheeks and necks, the deadened feeling, are the results of stale blood depriving the system of life-giving oxygen.

Workers go to the drug store and get Gude's Pepto-Mangan when they feel weak and run down. They take it in either the liquid or the tablet form. That makes the blood rich and red and drives out the poisons. Life-giving oxygen, carried by the little red cells, renews the strength and builds up the entire system. Look for the name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" on the package.

THE OLD HOME TOWN BY STANLEY

The Joy of Temptation

By REV. JOHN C. PAGE

Teacher of Bible Doctrine, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT.—My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations, knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.—Jas. 1:2-4.

There is a philosophy of life which expresses itself in the words, "Grin and bear it." Its most recent development is manifest in the appointment of "Smile 'em up" committees. This attitude may have some value. It is surely better than complaint and moroseness. But it falls infinitely short of the plane of Christian living which comes into view in this Scripture—"Count it all joy when ye fall into manifold temptations."

The word "temptation" means trial or testing. It is a test of character, not an incitement to wrongdoing. Sometimes these testings are unlooked for, so that we are said "to fall" into them. They are "manifold." This refers to their variety rather than their number. They are many sided, many colored; some severe, others mild, some prolonged, others brief. They give occasion for every sort of joy. This is the literal meaning of the words "all joy." We are to count it every sort of joy when we "fall into" these "manifold temptations."

But how can we do this? Only by knowing that the test patiently endured will lead to a great triumph, the triumph of faith and of a strong enduring character which is the result of faith.

Faith is the most precious and powerful thing in the world. Its education is of untold importance. A returned missionary from Tibet recently said in a public address, "God is looking everywhere for men and women who will trust Him." Trust is developed through trial. Under divine direction, Moses led the Israelites to the Red sea that they might learn in experience the power of God to save, and that their trust in Him might be strengthened. Jesus took His disciples into a storm that through the test they might learn to trust, because of the experimental knowledge of His power to deliver.

Every trial is a trial of faith. We never fall till we fall inside. Every outward yielding is the expression and result of a surrender within. The trial of faith is declared to be much more precious than gold that perishes. Gold is the standard of value in the world of men and affairs, but in the higher realm of spirit and character, faith is the standard, the faith that endures. From this springs every noble and Christlike quality.

All the New Testament writers push into prominence this point of view. "We glory in tribulations," says Paul, because they produce in us patience, steadfastness and hope. These are Christlike qualities, the flower of Christian character, the possession of which constitutes the triumph which makes all the tests worth while. When we become Christians, a new life from above is imparted to us. Every Christlike and gracious quality is enfolded in this new life, even as the oak tree is wrapped up in the acorn. The unfolding and development of this life is the one big outstanding problem confronting us. Without the manifold temptations, the new life would be dwarfed and stunted. Because of their operation and result, the life is perfected, so that where patience has her perfect work the life stands "perfect and entire, wanting nothing." Somehow the Christian life develops best under adversity. All sunshine makes the desert. Life needs clouds in order to have a glorious sunset.

Another factor entering into the triumph emanating from the manifold temptations is the capacity to enjoy which those have who patiently endure the sufferings of this present time. They will best be able to enjoy the glories that shall be revealed in us. So then, there is reason to "count it all joy when ye fall into manifold temptations, knowing that the trial of your faith worketh patience." This is not mere passive submission, but rather endurance. It is the faith that does not shrink, the perseverance that does not falter under burdens. When this sort of patience is permitted to have a perfect work, perfection of life and character is reached, and this is the triumph that makes all endurance worth while and enables us to count it every sort of joy when we "fall into manifold temptations." It is possible to hinder this triumph unless the human will co-operates with the divine purpose. There is grace enough for this also, so that sufferings may be borne joyously as well as submissively.

In bequeathing her share of the estate to her husband, Mrs. Leslie wrote, the former has "always been faithful to me and helped me accumulate my property."

Philadelphia, Dec. 14—Walter Yeakel the engineer on the ill-fated Philadelphia and Reading Railway train which crashed into another train at Bryn Athyn December 5, resulting in the loss of twenty-seven lives, and on whom part of the responsibility for the accident had been placed by the officials of the road, learned the seriousness of the disaster for the first time today when he was discharged from the hospital. Since he has been in the hospital all news of the accident has been kept from him.

That method was employed by the hospital physicians and nurses because they feared a collapse if he were apprised of the extent of the tragedy, they said.

HOOVER SAYS NEW CENSUS IN 1925

Secretary of Commerce Hints at This in His Annual Report.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Because of a "considerable dissatisfaction" with the result of the count in the census taken last January, the House Census Committee is considering legislation providing for another enumeration of the population of the United States in 1925 or some other year prior to the next decennial census. Secretary Hoover said yesterday in that portion of his annual report dealing with the activities of the census bureau.

"This proposed legislation has my approval," Mr. Hoover says, adding that "it has frequently been contended that the distribution of the population as shown by the reports of the fourteenth census is abnormal; that prior to that enumeration there was a great movement from rural to urban districts which, since the enumeration, has been neutralized in large measure by a reverse movement; and that this shifting of the population affected the totals for certain states, thus influencing the apportionment of representatives in Congress."

Census taking in January is disapproved on the ground that the weather in that month is a serious handicap to the enumerator, delaying the work and making it necessary "to take unusual precautions to insure a complete canvass." The report says the time for taking the next census should be in April, as was the case before the last census. The change for the last census was made, it says, at the request of various interests making use of agricultural statistics, the idea being that more accurate statistics could be obtained concerning the activities of the farms if the canvass was made shortly after the end of the year to which it related.

ANTI-GAMBLING BILL ENDORSED

Passage of Measure in Present Form Opposed by Kentucky Senator.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Opposition to the passage in its present form of the Walsh anti-gambling bill prohibiting publication of betting odds by newspapers, was expressed at the hearing yesterday in a bill before the Senate judiciary committee. Senator Stanley, Democrat, Kentucky, states that virtually all New York newspapers, and others in different parts of the country, desired to be heard in opposition to what he termed a restriction upon the freedom of the press and of speech. Breeders of blooded stock, also, have asked to be

Strikes At Newspapers

"The bill strikes deeply at the heart of news publication," W. F. Wiley, general manager of the Cincinnati Inquirer stated in urging an opportunity for the newspapers to be heard in opposition. Newspapers, generally, publish regularly reports on bank clearings and of stock and grain market quotations on prices, he said, all of which is made the basis of gambling, bets being settled on the published figures. The logical extension of the prohibition, he said, would be legislation preventing the publication of such information and also reports of murders and other crimes.

Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, supported the legislation as necessary to close "loop holes" in the lottery laws, and to reduce race track gambling. It will not interfere, he said, with the publication of race news or stop racing.

Condemns Pari-Mutuels E. Asbury Davis, president of the Maryland Anti-Race Track Gambling Association, condemned the pari-mutuel system in the Eastern race tracks as promoting gambling, asserting that at the last Pimlico meeting the money passing through the betting machines was 15 times the capital stock of all Baltimore banks.

COP IS GUILTY OF KILLING MAN Manslaughter Verdict in Trial Presided Over by Judge McPherson. After being out just an hour the jury, Tuesday night convicted Policeman William Drennan, of Philadelphia, of voluntary manslaughter for the killing of Patrick Joyce, whom he shot following an attempt to arrest some young man for Sunday ball playing last May. Donald P. McPherson, president judge of Adams county, presided at the trial. A most determined effort was made by Assistant District Attorney Fox to secure a conviction of second degree murder. Attorney Heine, for the defense, was allowed the usual four days in which to file reasons in support of a motion for a new trial, but at the suggestion of the Assistant District Attorney the policeman's bail was increased to $5000. The maximum penalty for voluntary manslaughter is 12 years. There was the widest difference in the character of the evidence given by witnesses for the prosecution and defense and Attorney Heine charged that the Commonwealth's witnesses were all influenced by the neighborhood prejudice against the policeman.

Attack, Credibility of Witnesses The credibility of one of the star witnesses for the Commonwealth, Mrs. Martha Makowski, who swore she saw the fight and heard Drennan shout a curse and declare he would shoot young Joyce, was attacked by Harry Walls, district detective, who testified that after the shooting he had made an investigation and saw Mrs. Makowski and she told him that Eddie McGovern had started the fight. "I said," continued the detective. "You will make a good witness for Drennan." She replied: "For God's sake, don't put my name in it or I will have to move out of the neighborhood."

This testimony was corroborated by Frank Reed, a policeman of the same district. "I suppose poor Mrs. Jones will be arrested under the Sunday law."

"Good gracious! What has she been doing," "I understand some secret investigator got into her pantry and discovered that her preserves were working."—San Francisco Chronicle.

(Medical Advertising) A NEW MEDICINE OVER A HUNDRED YEARS AGO The different Herbs, Roots and Barks, contained in Tonnall, was used over a hundred years ago, by the Medical Profession, in their daily practice, and are used today by the successful practitioner, to combat the maladies which human nature is afflicted with, such as Heart, Liver, Kidney Ailments, all diseases arising from a disordered Stomach. When you stop to consider Tonnall contains 13 different Herbs, Roots and Barks each Herb, Root and Bark known for its distinct medicinal properties, it is no wonder so many sufferers are today proclaiming the Merits of Tonnall above any Proprietary Medicine, due to the facts no one or two herbs, roots and barks cured all the ailments human nature suffered with. But Tonnall contains more herbs, roots and barks than any other proprietary medicine on the market, and that is one of the reasons why so many have found such wonderful relief, after taking Tonnall. The pioneers of this great and glorious country treated their ailments by making teas from herbs, roots and barks that are now used in Tonnall; as you are well aware no chemicals or acids were used in the decoctions of the various teas made from nature's own products, herbs, roots and barks. There are thousands of suffering men, women and children in the United States today suffering untold agonies due to taking drugs which either poisoned their systems or they became fiends to drugs contained in the various nostrums. That is also one of the reasons why? We publish on the label of the bottle the name of each herb, root and bark contained in Tonnall. You should know just what you are taking into your stomach the same as the food you eat. Tonnall has no equal as a remedy for stomach, liver and kidney ailments, catarrhal affections or as a tonic tissue builder and strength producer. You can eat what your appetite craves for after taking Tonnall. Every vital organ in the human system is strengthened by Tonnall. Tonnall assimilates with the food you eat and the strength giving elements contained in Tonnall are what your run down system requires. DREAMS OF DAYS OF MAXIMILIAN

Shriveled Old Lady Spent Three Tragic Years With Empress Charlotte.

(By Associated Press)

Mexico City, Dec. 14—A shriveled, gray-haired little old woman almost blind and living wholly alone, sits all day in her chair before the window of her tiny apartment in Mexico City and dreams of the days of the Mexican Empire when the Austrian Archduke Maximilian ruled the destinies of the nation from 1864 to 1867. She is Senora Marie Othelia Jordan de Degollado, scion of an old Virginia family and wife of the late General Mariana Degollado, member of a family famous in Mexican history.

During the three tragic years of Maximilian's reign she was a lady-in-waiting to Empress Charlotte, the "sad Princess of Europe," and to the correspondent she recently recalled some interesting memories of court days during the Mexican empire.

Maximilian, the ill-fated Austrian Prince who was set up as head of the Empire by Napoleon III in 1864 and three years later was shot as a usurper by order of the Mexican President Juarez, was described by Senora Degollado as a "beautiful character, sympathetic and capable but to amiable to govern a nation of malcontents."

Empress Charlotte, daughter of Leopold I, King of the Belgians, who is still living in Brussels, according to Senora Degollado, was "an ambitious genius who was always striving to advance her husband and whose mind became unbalanced when she found the path blocked." Senora Degollado has never seen the Empress since she departed from Mexico City in July, 1866, to plead the cause of the Empire before the French monarch and later to go to Rome to attempt to secure the good offices of the Pope. So far as she knows no direct word has been received in Mexico from Charlotte in more than 15 years and that only an incoherent note to the wife of a former high Mexican official.

"The Empress left hurriedly on her European trip," said Senora Degollado, who despite her 80-odd years retains a remarkably clear memory, "and was accompanied only by her personal maids. For many years prior to her departure there were evidences of her failing reason and we were not surprised to hear of her acute affliction several months later. I am positive that there is absolutely no truth in the reports that she was poisoned before she left Mexico. And the Emperor! He was possessed of every kind element of nature. He was too good. He listened to treacherous advice and was shot. That day was an evil one for Mexico."

Senora Degollado was in Mexico City when Maximilian was shot in Queretaro and although she had an opportunity to view the body before it was shipped to Vienna she declined, preferring to remember him as she knew him. Within a few days after the Emperor's death, she and her husband fled to Guatemala where they lived for several years until Porfirio Diaz became president of Mexico.

Born in Norfolk, Virginia, Miss Marie Jordan went to Washington with her father during the early days of the Civil War and there met Mariana Degollado, who was attached to the Mexican embassy. They were married in Washington and later came to Mexico where her husband's father, General Santos Degollado, was one of the most prominent men of the day. A street and plaza in Mexico City still bears his name.

Senora Degollado believes that she is the last survivor of the court favorites of the Emperor Maximilian.
